HIGH SCHOOL

Brooklyn, New York

Foreword

The Year Book staff has endeavored to recreate in this volume the pleasurable experiences and memories of four years at Erasmus Hall. We hope that in the future it will serve as a bond uniting the Class of June 1941.

D R . J O H N F . M C N E I L L

To the Members of the Class of June 1941:

Greetings to you all and congratulations upon the successful completion of your high school course. May you meet with even greater success in the continuation of your education in college and in whatever work you undertake in the many years that lie ahead.

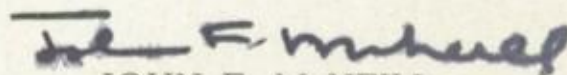

From the quiet life of school you now go out into a world torn by war, obsessed by fears, and terrifyingly uncertain of the future. "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," and no one can safely say what the morrow will bring forth. Might has crushed Right, and hysteria has drowned out the still small voice of conscience. It is easy to despair.

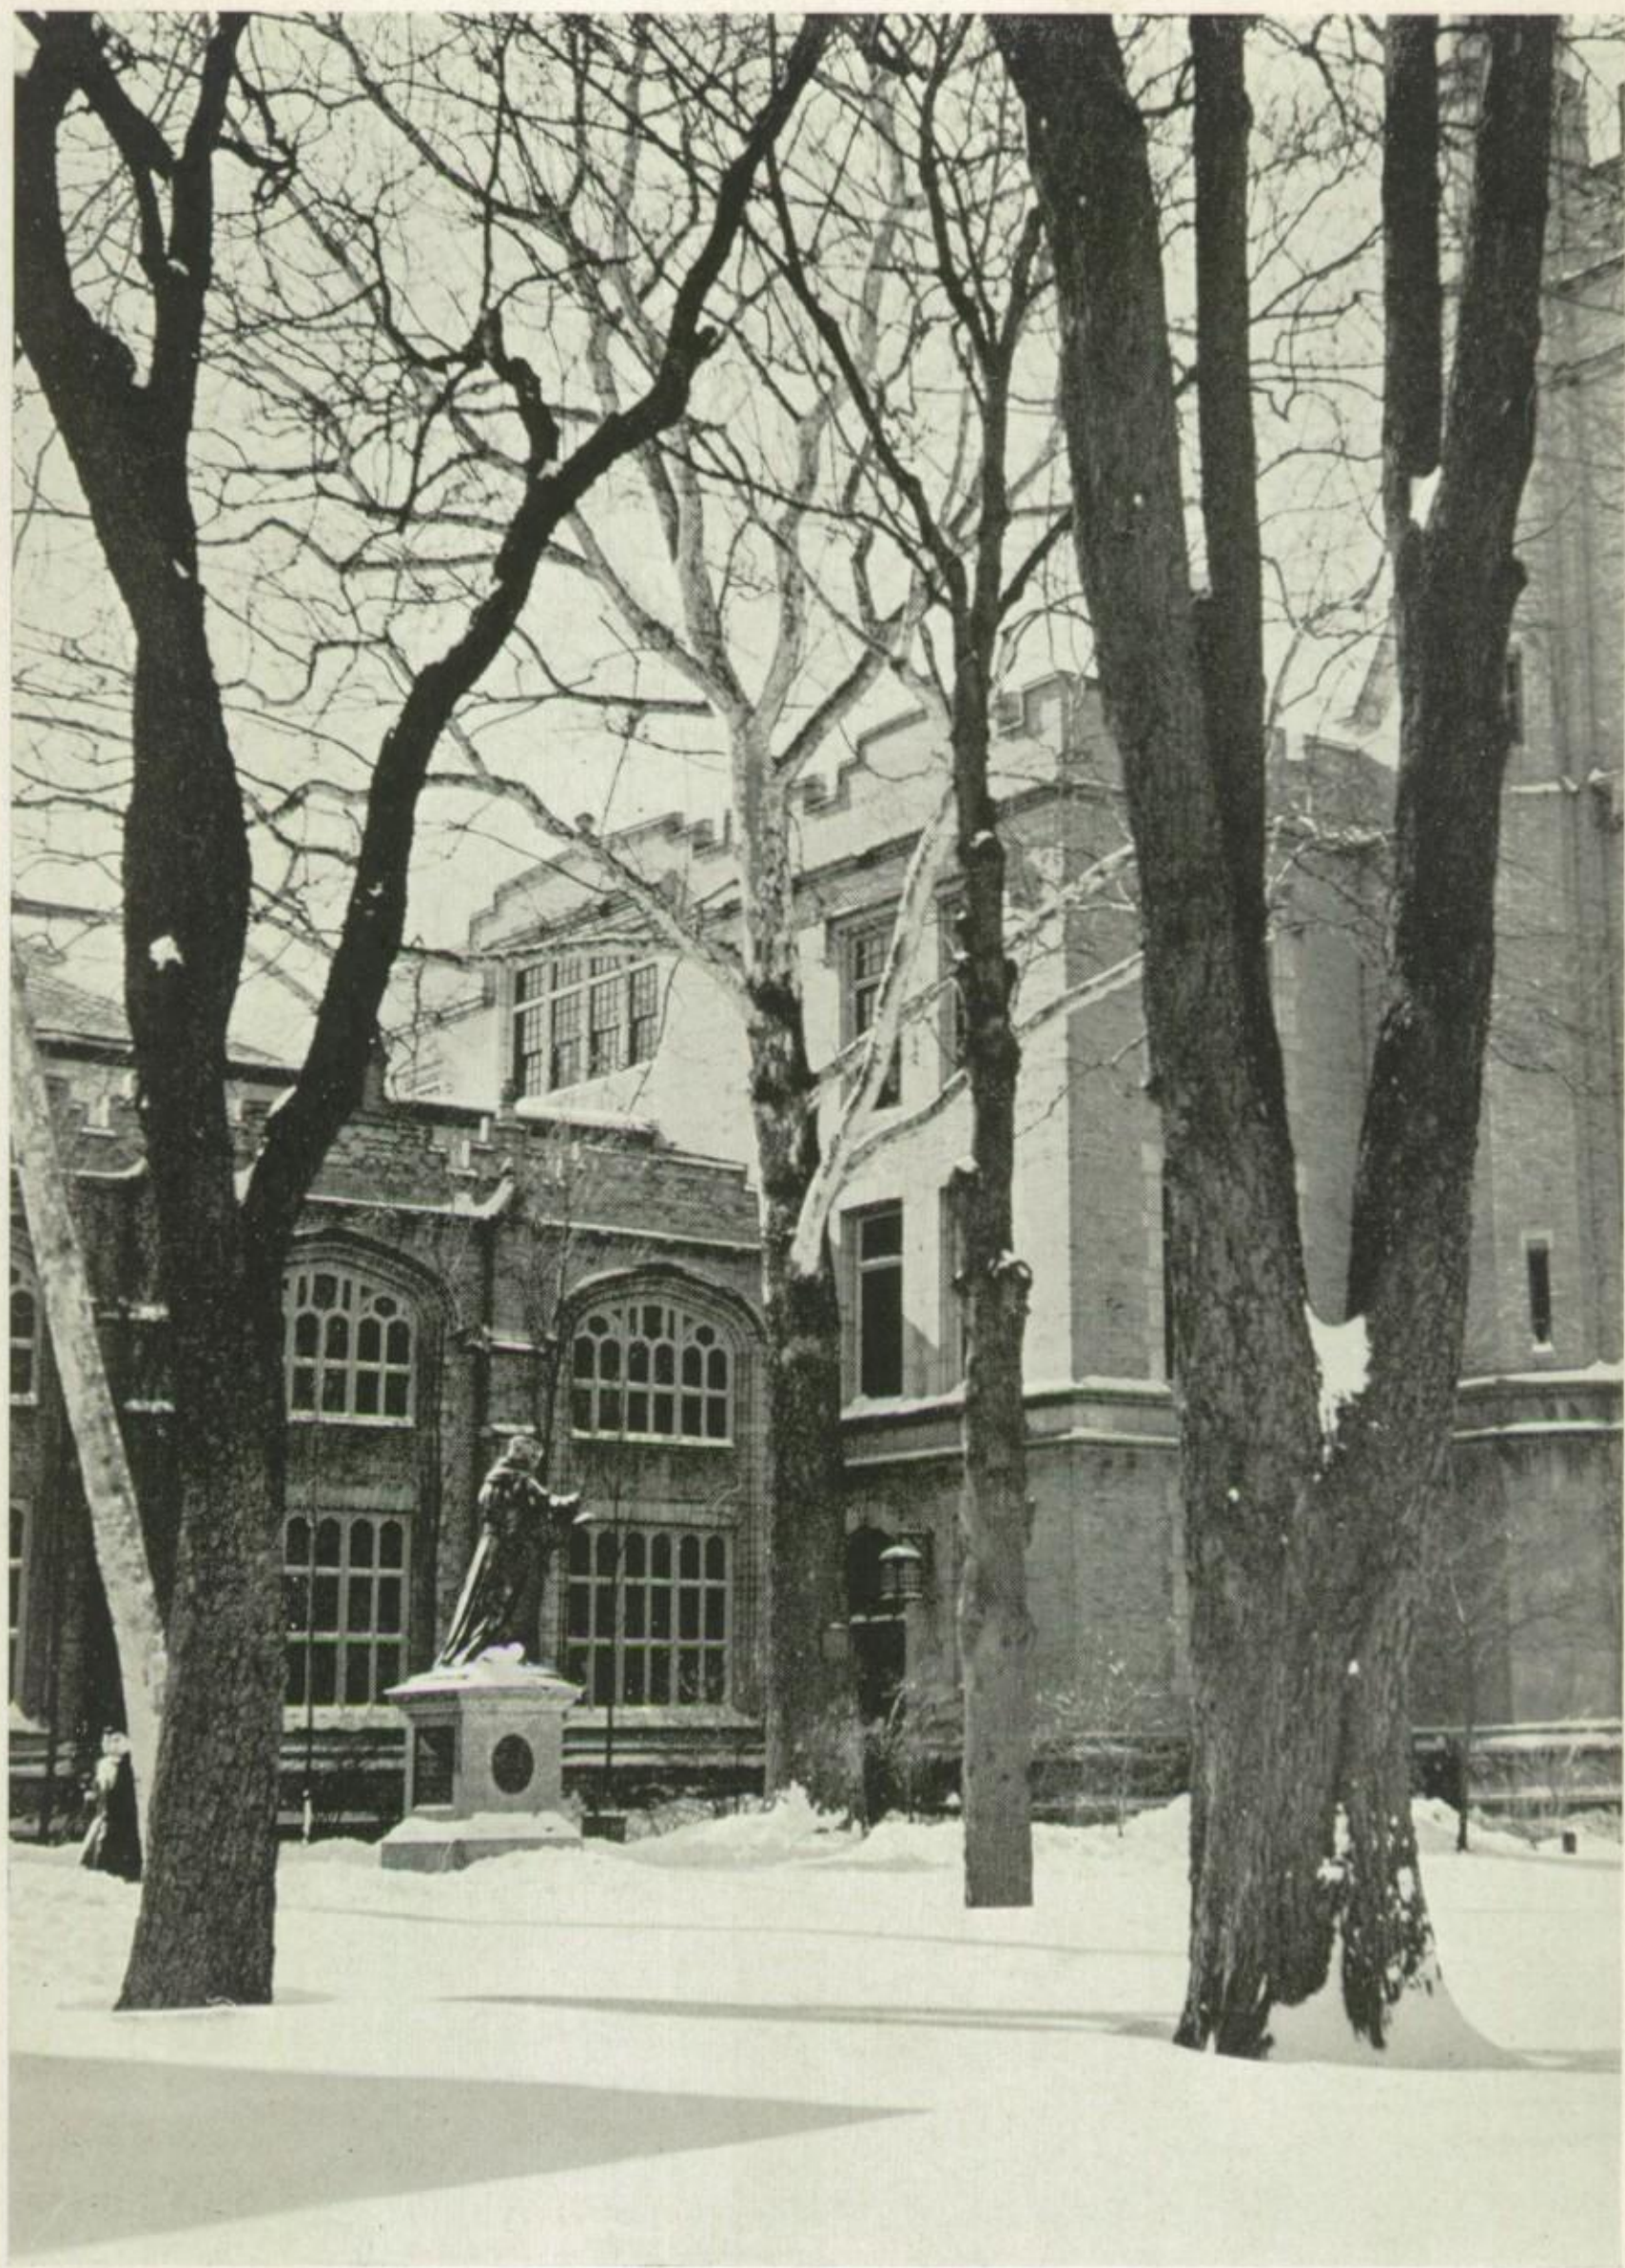

Youth, however, will never despair. Fully aware of the evils abroad in the world today, our young people have the intelligence to realize that ultimately justice and decency will triumph. They have the spiritual courage to face the present and the future eagerly, willing and ready to play their proper part in making this world a fit place in which man can live and grow in freedom and security.

Your education should strengthen this spiritual courage, develop your intellect, stimulate the growth of those fine qualities of personal character without which our way of life is impossible. In the difficult days ahead, God grant that you may all be found equal to the great demands that inevitably will be made upon you, and may success and happiness attend your efforts.

Heartiest greetings and best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN F. McNEILL

To the Class of June, 1941:

Remember that of all the fine qualities of character, gratitude is one of the best. It requires intelligence and courage; inspires admiration, not envy. Cultivate it; you will find it worthwhile.

STORY

Just two years ago, on the twenty-fourth of May, incessant hammer blows reminded the few students still housed in the Old Building that a fence was being erected, that demolition to remove all but the original structure was under way, that the oft-mentioned restoration process had begun. Even the most curious found it difficult to investigate, and Erasmians were denied access to the gravel-covered rear campus except during changes of periods. Within a week the most ingenious student was unable to see much of the drama which was being enacted, although an occasional shatter of glass or crash of lumber announced only too clearly the passing of the most familiar of Erasmus institutions. By the second day of June, most of the preliminary work had been completed and everything, — desks, blackboards, cabinets, and even some of the roofing material — had been spirited away. Floors, wall sections and plaster soon followed, while, to the south, excavation for the "new" building had begun,—as many Erasmians discovered by lunch-period reconnaissance. In another two weeks, the southernmost wing of the traditional structure had vanished, accompanied by a large portion of the first and second stories of the remaining wings. On June 22 or thereabouts, the last erect fragment, the brick chimney, tumbled to earth to lie with the remains of what had served as both a home and school to several hundred students during most of the nineteenth century.

Exuberant students, fresh from two months of vacation, found on returning to the "Old Gray School" that a great change had been wrought in their Alma Mater. The old had passed into oblivion; the new had taken its place and stone and sand supplanted the debris of destruction. As weeks passed, as girders crept skyward, as a metal skeleton was clad in gothic beauty, something of a collegiate atmosphere was imparted to Erasmus Hall. Light, clean masonry obscured the ugly, dark brick walls on the south, and the old school was forever parted from the outside world. As the days lengthened and the school year drew to a close, enthusiasm was apparent, speculation rampant. Advance reports of the marvels to be found in the "new" building were numerous,—well-lighted rooms, modern offices, spacious corridors, and an elevator! Needless to say, barriers were passed in secret by independent souls and the wonder explored from roof to basement, receiving the unanimous approval of these self-appointed critics. September was to bring to successful completion a long-awaited dream.

In the fall of 1940, an entering freshman, admitted for the first time through the portals of Erasmus Hall, saw in the Snyder Avenue building the antithesis of what he had been led to expect,—no more "chicken run," no muddy campus, no crowded study halls with desks inscribed with the witticisms of countless bored scholars. On the contrary, something new and refreshing greeted him,—landscaped surroundings, broad cement walks, comfortable classrooms, and adequate coat closets. The stoic senior, by way of contrast, inured to the former, observed the innovations with amazement and made a more objective comment, "You know, Joe, they've actually got a few rooms on the top floors now that don't leak when it rains!" He might have mentioned, with equal emphasis that the inundation of mud and turbid water, affectionately designated as a campus by the uninitiated in former years, was a thing of the past, no longer to waylay the unwary; that the flagpole had been moved to the center of the campus, that the chimney of the original old academy, grown weary and weak, now needed the support of a pair of long beams as crutches in its old age, or, that the new wing was equipped with drinking fountains where you could really quench your thirst. If he had been more intellectually inclined he would undoubtedly have noticed the beautifully equipped and lighted library, so soon to become a mecca for all and a truly fitting place to preserve and display our rich collection of records and relics. Then too, there was the much-needed girls' gym and accompanying locker accommodations, numerous art studios, additional classroom space, a modern infirmary, and many other necessary improvements. On the top floor, the band had a practice room, all to itself, where it was hoped that martial strains would no longer disturb the tranquillity of well-ordered classes. In the basement was a shop for industrial arts, wood working, metal crafts, etc. and, on the first floor near an elaborate exhibit hall, a model apartment and kitchen to fascinate those with a yen for home economics and to provide refreshments for visitors. But what probably elicited the most praise was an elevator, rendered none the less intriguing by the fact that official sanction was necessary for its use. In the eyes of the average Desiderian, the "new" building was a modern miracle, the fulfillment of a long cherished desire.

Frame has become stone and steel, and now a city stands where once, well over a century ago, lay only a few farms and a village school. Yesterday it was a little school with a roster of twenty-six students, today a school of 7,000 students! The original academy now stands empty, awaiting restoration, in an imposing position in the center of a campus of trees and turf, sentinelled by ivy-covered walls. Nearly fifty years ago, the little wooden structure had ceased to be adequate for educational purposes, and even additions had proved incapable of absorbing the influx of students, when in 1896, the Academy became a city high school. In the years which followed, by 1906 to be exact, the Flatbush Avenue building was finished, succeeded by extensions along Church and Bedford Avenues in 1911 and 1925. Finally on November 19, 1940 the quadrangle was completed. Slowly but surely, just as stone had eclipsed the simple structure, so had it been removed from a material center of attraction. Seasoned by years of service it was elevated to the position of symbolism and respect enjoyed by all that is traditional.

In the years to come Erasmus' sons can expect to be justly proud of their Alma Mater. The scholar on the pedestal, with weather-beaten countenance, will survey an outwardly altered scene. The historic old building will have been renovated and shifted to a site nearer the center of the campus. The addition of the southern portion of the frame structure, removed in 1905 when the chapel was erected, and a rear porch similar to that in the front, will serve to restore its original symmetry. Only the shadows of the Arch and the towering turrets of the West Wing will remain to remind us of the Erasmus Hall that was.

Someone has wisely said that Erasmus Hall is best appreciated by those who have left her. Posterity will not fail to recognize the role she has played in shaping the state and nation. There is something inherent in its constitution that compels distinction and motivates good citizenship.

GIRLS'

It seems only yesterday that we entered the annex—to us, the farthest outpost of civilization. We'll never forget our first day in gym as we came trotting on to the floor and stood gaping at our friends. We were taught the "Big Apple" in our dancing classes in '37, while today we have advanced to the "Conga." At the annex we were introduced to the various squad activities, and to the Leaders, those rare specimens who directed them so ably. We remarked how difficult it was to perceive any green on a Leader's uniform, so well covered were they with decorations ranging from orange bars to blue major E's.

As we became acquainted with the extra-curricular sport activities, a large number of girls turned out for hockey, a sport which was completely new to most of us. Almost immediately we began to shape a team that was to become one of the best that Erasmus Hall has ever produced. Because of our great interest in hockey we were rightfully called the "hockey grade." Quite often the seniors referred to us as "those dangerous freshies" whose record in making "sticks" had never been equalled. During our third and fifth terms we were captained by Edith Kayser, who relinquished that title to Marilyn Murphy, school captain of hockey, in our final season. Since the beginning of our hockey careers, we had been building up our team in anticipation of the time when it might capture the school crown. The final game of our last season came, and with it, disaster. We lost the championship to the Juniors by a score of 1-0, the single tally being made in the last second of play. We had to content ourselves with the runner-up prizes of E. H.'s.

In softball we were more successful than in hockey. During our sixth term, captained by Lucille Krohn, we defeated all comers and received our major E's. These awards went to Lucille Krohn, Juanita Coatney, Mae Lobsenz, Ethel Speyer, Edith Salmon, Joyce Malm, and Marilyn Murphy.

We have not been able to achieve any great honor in one of our most popular activities, basketball. Our teams, however, have been near the top many times in the last four years.

Our swimming laurels have been faithfully upheld by Florence Kahan, Florence Hughes, Faith Dane, Josephine Cleary, Dot Young, and Gertrude Mazza. It has been said that Florence Hughes stands a good chance of rising to olympic greatness.

Of all the varied activities, there is one which is outstanding, the Leaders Club. We recall the harrowing ordeal of tryouts for membership. Of the one hundred girls, aspiring to become members, only a very few were accepted by the club, composed of the choicest girl athletes. The club bids farewell, this year, to several of its members—Lucille Krohn, Ethel Speyer, Marilyn Murphy, Edith Salmon, Joyce Malm, Lorraine DaCosta, Juanita Coatney, Eleanor Carey, Helen Johnson, Sheila Berkeley, and Phyllis Sloan.

Although not Leaders, the following girls have also been very active in athletics,—Faith Dane, Josephine Cleary, Virginia Leonard, Jean Cochenour, Florence Kahan, Florence Hughes, and Gertrude Mazza.

BOYS'

When the Class of '41 entered the Main Building for the first time, the student body was teeming with excitement. The basketball team was leading our Division and enthusiasm was running high. The quintet did win the championship and we, as Freshies, received our first taste of Erasmus Hall athletics.

As the Class of '41 started its final term, the basketball team was again fighting for top honors in our division. And once again, the Buff and Blue came out ahead of the pack. The team had some of the finest players in our basketball history. Coach Al Badain called Jerry Fleishman, for example, "the greatest player that Erasmus ever produced." That he alone did not hold this opinion was proved by Jerry's being on the All-City five for two consecutive years. The spark-plug of the team was fiery Captain Freddy Mayblum, whose three star years of varsity ball proved his ability.

The accurate set-shot of Al Dente decided the outcome of many games. It was his last minute basket against New Utrecht that gave the team the Division title. The defensive game of quiet and amiable Elmer Levine made him a popular player. An injured knee was no handicap for Lennie Doctor, who played all season. In the pivot or on defense, the "Doc" was always a threat. The speed of Mike DeMeo, coupled with his accurate passing, made him the squad's leading reserve. The man behind the scenes was Eddie Kresky, diminutive manager of the team.

For more than fifteen years, the swimming team has won the Brooklyn-Richmond championship. Two of Mr. Bannon's chief point-getters from our grade were Steve Sokoloff and John Harrer. "Socky" was the team's leading breast stroker, taking many first places throughout the season. When not writing poetry, Harrer swam anchor-man for the undefeated relay team.

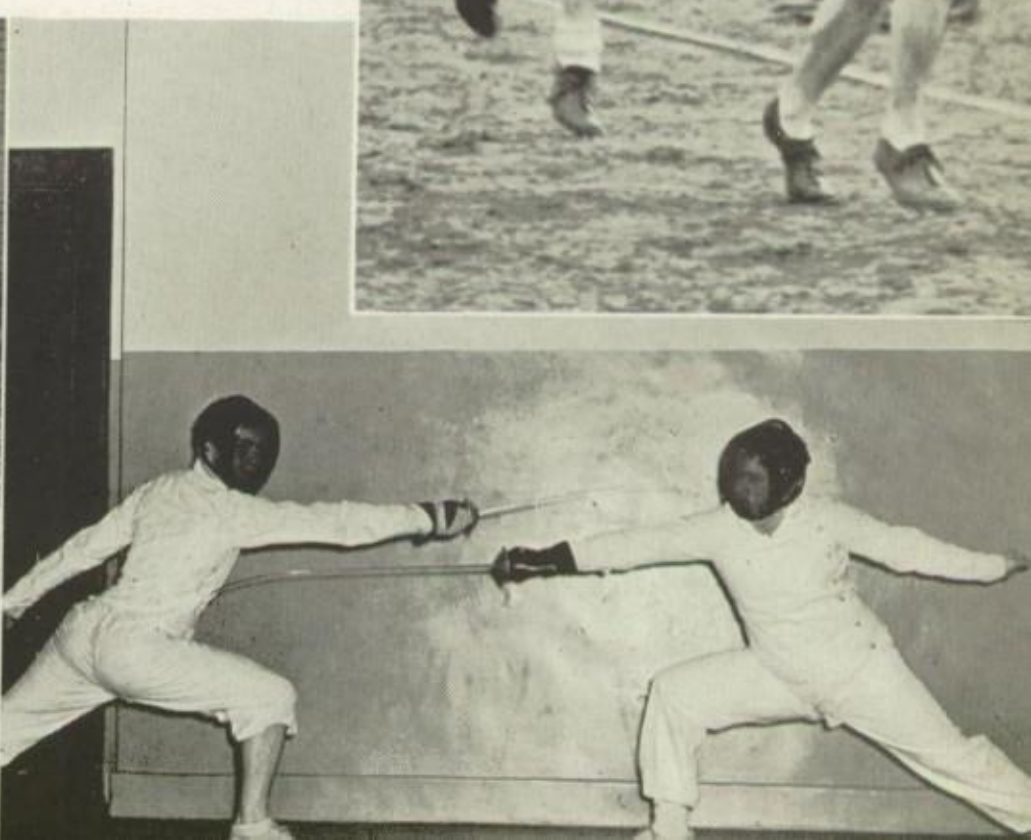

SPORTS

Harry Kaufman, co-captain of the track team, compiled a brilliant record in both cross-country and track. Bob Davidson, Harold Isaacson, Joe Salzhandler, Ed Draney and Harvey Shapiro were outstanding long-distance runners while Gus Vlitos and Gene Schneider starred in the sprints.

Under their new mentor, Mr. George Bartelt, the foilsmen were worthy opponents for all-comers. Captain Stan Bernstein covered himself with glory and bruises throughout the season. Henry Stein and Burt Wise compiled an impressive record, while Sheldon Wortzman carried out the managerial duties.

Brooklyn is noted as a baseball town and Mr. Dugan has an important job putting out a good baseball team each season. Co-captains Jerry Gutt and Paul Esposito were the slugging and fielding combination that made his task easier.

Other star Erasmus athletes were Dick Deasy on the tennis team and Roy Cahill, football manager and lacrosse expert.

CLASS

TERM THE FIRST—Freshman—those innocent, frightened babes who dwelled in a formidable building known as the Annex, and whose conduct and work was supervised by one Mr. Elbert. Freshmen—who for the first time realized the splendor and traditions of Erasmus Hall when they saw the pageant commemorating our one hundred and fiftieth anniversary.

Freshmen—who reveled in those ferry-boat rides around New York—that was us! Remember?

TERM THE SECOND—Freshmen still, but we broke into the news when we led the Student Honor Roll, when thirty-two of us were inducted into Junior Arista, when Genevieve Vallee won the French Declamation Contest, and when George Lewis represented us on the newly formed Personality Committee. We were introduced to the main building and our new Grade Adviser, Mr. Ritchie, in his office on the fourth floor. Remember?

TERM THE THIRD—Sophomores—and our ranks were increased when the students from Junior High joined us. Our boys tried out for the football team because they idolized our city champs. Our girls learned to swim, and for the first time we appeared in Campus Chatter. We found Winter storms especially trying in 468, where the roof leaked. Remember?

TERM THE FOURTH—and our first Regents! Spring on the campus was romantically appealing even though the tearing down of the Old Building had been begun. Saul Marias became Boy Leader of Junior Arista, and David Hemley led our grade in the position of President. Everyone was whistling "Three Little Fishes" and wearing Dutch shoes! Remember?

TERM THE FIFTH—Juniors at last! Thankful for the early session, we were able to put in a few hours of concentration each morning before the riveters began work on the Snyder Wing. Milton

HISTORY

Albert and Stanley Levin were elected to the "Dutchman" staff, and twelve of us entered the sacred portals of Senior Arista. Remember?

TERM THE SIXTH—Several young hopefuls competed for G.O. office, but only Virginia McNally sailed through successfully, flaunting our colors. Bill Borges amazed us at our Grade Dance, while Jewel Schneider edited our first newspaper, the "Venture." Also, about this time Bertram Zaslow won the League of Nations Contest. Remember?

TERM THE SEVENTH—Mr. Ritchie returned from Plattsburg with a martial order for our new grade "home," 356. We were duly impressed by the new building with its wondrous elevators and the library. Saul Marias, Marion Lill, and Charna Slonim became our G.O. officers. Mignon Egan startled us with her jitterbug antics, and we heard Musak in our ears! Remember?

member?

TERM THE EIGHTH — Arthur Schulz, Charna Slonim, and Betty Schulder led Senior Arista, while George Lewis, Marion Lill, and June Murtfeldt were our senior grade officers. David Pear was Editor-in-chief of the "Dutchman" and Norman Selverstone held the same position on our Year Book. For the first time in the history of the school, all three prizes of the G. O. Poster Contest were captured by one person — Sheila Berkeley. Sidney Miller,

Gertrude Cummings

and Elsie Rubinstein headed the Student Assembly.

The Senate and Rostra broke all previous records by winning one debate after another. We filled out innumerable cards for Miss Jeffs, while wondering—and worrying—about our respective futures. All clubs participated in a school-wide conservation drive. We grumbled about those early morning "sings", and were measured for our buff and blue gowns. All these trifling senior duties were climaxed by COMMENCEMENT! Can you ever forget?

DESIDERIUS ERASMUS
Front Campus
ERASMUS HALL HIGH SCHOOL

June 24, 1951

Dear Class of June 1941,

This is just to let you know I'm moving! I feel I'm entitled to a rest. After all, I'm getting on in years, and the outdoor life is a little too strenuous for me. I'm going to rent a room with the money I've saved--those pennies and occasional nickels you threw to me in lieu of a steady salary. And so, I have a favor to ask of you! Won't you please take care of that old book of mine? I've done a lot of sleuthing and I know any one of you can be relied upon to keep it for me.

For instance, here is some of the data that Arthur Schulz, head of Information If You Please, Inc., has gathered for me. Imagine my surprise, when only last year I learned that Norman Selverstone, editor of your Year Book, had been appointed coach of our own Erasmus Hall swimming team, largely through the influence of our Borough President, Tony Faga, and Councilman, George Kavanagh. Now that was an election! David Pear, editor of the "Brooklyn Nightly Swallow", ran lengthy editorials for the boys. Brewster Horwitz and Marvin Hurwitz, positive from the beginning about the outcome of the election, included Tony's and George's names in the 1951 edition of the "World Encyclopedia". Talking about elections, I hear that Saul Marias is planning to run again — this time for the office of President of the Broad-A Realty Company.

From this old post of mine, I have had a good view of Flatbush Avenue. On one of the advertising signs was a picture of Charna Slonim and Virginia McNally, now leading models, advertising "Parchand's Hair Shampoo, for blondes and redheads, too!" An inside source told me that Ina Rosenberg, the "First Lady of Advertising", designed the lay-out. I was also told that Jerry Levine is now doing the graduates' pictures for the 1951 Year Book.

From other sources, I have learned that George Lewis, who has acquired a thick Southern accent from his new home town, Richmond, is a very successful engineer, and is now working on a contract for Milton Albert, the tycoon executive of the decade. Milton, and his partner, Charles Camack, sponsor a weekly radio show with popular Bob Williams as M.C., and a trio that includes Eugene Bodian, Dorothy Caplow, and Joe Salzhandler.

Only a little while ago, I saw Ethel Speyer, Joyce Malm, and Edith Salmon of the Olympic Tennis Team signing autographs for the young hopefuls of the Erasmus Hall Leaders Club. There was so much excitement that Joan Charlock and Jack Weiss, stars of the new play "Your City", slipped by unnoticed in the crowd. Their manager, Stanley Levin(e), was with them.

Just recently, I heard Nancy Washburn, who is the Chairman of the Commercial Department here at Erasmus Hall, and Blanche Sweet, Chairman of the Latin Department, talking about Betty Schulder's new novel "You TOO Can Be Happy!" Also on the best-seller list is Nancy Groberg's "Essays for the Masses." Only last week, I read that publishers are being swamped with demands for more reprints of Gay Siegel's latest poems. In the same edition of the newspaper was an announcement that Marion Lill and Charlotte Harris were chosen as the two best examples of the "Perfect Secretary." No doubt you all have read Eleanor Meisel's column "Greasepainting the Town", about Brooklyn and its events. And, in another daily, Leslie Slote writes a scintillating sports column about the athletic feats of our own Erasmus Hall boys.

Well, my joints are getting rusty, so I suppose I'll have to close now. Don't forget my old book, where I've entered all your records.

I'll never forget you, Class of June '41.

Traditionally yours,

Dessy.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of June, 1941, being in sane mind and sound body (even after exams) and having so many potential possessions, do hereby bequeathe the following etcetera to the following people, institutions, etcetera.

To Mr. Ritchie we leave a recommendation for an advancement to a captaincy in the Fourth Regiment of the New York Guards.

With "zeal" we will to Dr. Wedeck a brother-in-law, and a medal for his mastery of two subtle arts, laughter and learning.

To Desiderian posterity we will the New Building, the fresh and tangy flavor of Dutchman news, a few mermaids to liven up the pool, elevator passes and, lugubriously, the school.

To the Music Department we joyfully bequeathe Senior Singing de tout notre coeur.

Upon Miss Moffett we bestow a permanent 8811 with high marks and scholarships for all.

To Mr. Murray we bequeathe the permanent epithet "sweeter than levulose," and writing instruments which will be put away promptly.

To all school publications we leave a rabbit's foot and horseshoe so that they may continue to win Columbia Press Association awards even as they did when the Class of June '41 was among them.

To Miss Batchelor we leave Room 207 with five hundred seats for all the people who want to be in her classes.

To Mrs. Halpin we bequeathe a seat on the Regents Board so that the examinations can be made more extensive.

To Miss Stanton we leave a phonograph that will play over and over again the famous record, "It is Later Than You Think!"

To all those poor souls who died waiting for the bell, tossed pennies to "Dessy" before Regents, stayed in school eight long periods in their last term, primped and posed for Year Book pictures and — graduated — we joyfully, gleefully, and happily bequeathe a diploma.

And to all our teachers, we leave!
